

Hello and THANK YOU for downloading the free samples for this sound library!

All of the sounds were recorded with a Zoom H6 recorder (XY capsule) at 96kHz/24-bit stereo and formatted to 44.1kHz/16-bit for this sample pack. Feel free to read 'Sound List – UI Mechanical' on the website for the full sound list that details every sound that is included in the full library with an extended description of how each sound was made.

UI CATEGORIES

In this library there are 10 different categories of user interface sound. Here are some suggestions as to where they can be used:

- 1) Cancel: A cancellation sound useful for backing out of a selection, or returning to a previous page.
- 2) Confirm: A confirmation selection sound (more intense and fancier than the “Select” sounds) useful for a final confirmation or selection.
- 3) Error: A negative error alert useful for a problem or issue.
- 4) Loading: A loopable sound for a mechanical device that is loading, processing or analysing.
- 5) Move: The quick, small movement sound as you move between different options in a menu or list.
- 6) Notification: A notification alert useful for popups and messages.
- 7) Select: A simpler selection sound for general confirmation and selections.
- 8) Text-Scroll: A loopable sound to accompany the scrolling of dialogue in a conversation or upon reading text
- 9) Turning Off: A turning off or shutting down of a machine or device.
- 10) Turning On: A turning on or booting up of a machine or device.

TERMINOLOGY

In this library you will frequently find file names that include words such as “Raw”, “FX”, “LOOP” and other terms. Here are the definitions of these terms and what they mean:

- “FX”: The sound has additional effects or elements applied.
- “LOOP”: The sound is seamlessly loopable.
- “Raw”: The sound is in its base form with minimal effects or elements.
- “Rev”: The sound has additional reverberation added.

FAQ

- Do I need to credit you or the library in my project?
 - Only if you want to! Do contact me if you use any of these sounds in your project and I would be more than happy to help spread awareness of your project!
- Can I use these sounds in commercial projects to make money?
 - Yes! Just so long as you aren’t using these sounds to create your own commercial sample library, any other project is absolutely fine!
